HISTORICAL NOTE

The College Art Association of America (CAA), founded in 1911, is a membership organization dedicated to education in the visual arts. Throughout its history, this goal has been pursued, in part, by the publication of periodicals, including Parnassus, The College Art Journal and The Index of Twentieth Century Artists, all of which are no longer published. Others, like CAA News, The Art Bulletin and Art Journal, are still in print.

The Index of Twentieth Century Artists, the focus of this collection, first appeared in October 1933. The editors stated intention was to "make available data about the artists of our own time, concerning many of whom little research has as yet be undertaken." In April 1937, The Index of Twentieth Century Artists was published for the last time. The Index featured 125 American artists between October 1933 and April 1937. As these files suggest, the College Art Association intended to included foreign artists in future issues but stopped publishing before any appeared.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The bulk of the collection documents the research conducted by the College Art Association of America for its publication, The Index of Twentieth Century Artists through correspondence, exhibition catalogues, press releases and news clippings. Other material was gathered by the staff of Parnassus, another College Art Association publication. In some cases, the two publications shared material. Correspondence dates from 1930 until 1937. Printed material dates from 1901 until 1938.

The files are organized in two series:

Series I. The Index of Twentieth Century Artists

Series II. Parnassus- Exhibition Notices.

The Index series has six sub-series: Exhibitions, Collections, Artists, Note Cards, Printed Material, and Administrative Material. Of particular interest is the correspondence between the College Art Association staff and those artists considered for inclusion in the Index. Most of this correspondence was with American artists, including Paul Manship, Alexander Archipenko, Walter Pach and Alexander Stirling Calder. French artists are also represented.

The second series, Parnassus - Exhibition Notices, consists of exhibition notices received by the staff of Parnassus for inclusion in the publication.

COLLECTION INVENTORY

Series I: The Index of Twentieth Century Artists, 1927-1938

This series, comprising the bulk of the collection, documents the research conducted by the College Art Association for their publication, The Index of Twentieth Century Artists through correspondence, exhibition catalogues, press releases, newspaper clippings, and other printed material. This series has six subseries: Exhibitions, Collections, Artists, Note Cards, Printed Material, and Administrative Material. Of particular interest is the correspondence between College Art Association staff and those artists considered for inclusion in the Index, which can be found in the Artists subseries.

Subseries 1: Exhibitions

The files are arranged alphabetically by gallery or museum name. Material filed under subjects rather than galleries or museums are arranged alphabetically at the end of the subseries.

Consists of exhibition catalogues, announcements and news clippings of temporary exhibits in galleries and museums. In addition, some pamphlets from art schools and clubs and other material not related to exhibitions occasionally appear.

Subseries 3: Artists

Arranged alphabetically by nationality of the artist followed by artist's name. Americans appear first, followed by international artists. This filing system reflects the original order used by the CAA.

Consists of clippings, exhibition catalogs, biographical information, press releases, and correspondence. Original artist correspondence is noted when present. Most of the correspondence is between the editors of the Index, Greta A. Cornell and Frances M. Pollack, and American artists, including Paul Manship, Alexander Archipenko, Walter Pach and Alexander Stirling Calder. French artists are also represented. Not all artists who appeared in The Index of Twentieth Century Artists are represented in these files.
